SDSU’s Interwork Institute with Co-Sponsorship from CSAVR and NCSAB presents the

The National Rehabilitation Leadership Institute’s
Executive Leadership Seminar Series in Rehabilitation

Seminar 1: Fiscal and Legal Systems
Date: November 17 - 21, 2014   Location: San Diego, CA

Financial, programmatic, and other legal factors affect the administration of public vocational rehabilitation programs. VR leaders need to learn effective strategies to develop and administer cooperative agreements, memoranda of understanding and fee for service agreements. Leaders must make effective use of state and national performance data and standards, fiscal and program audits and other data. Understanding the legal and financial requirements of the public vocational rehabilitation program enhances quality services for persons with disabilities.

Seminar 2: Leadership & Organization Issues in Cross-Cultural Environment
Date: February 23 - 27, 2015   Location: San Diego, CA

Improving performance outcomes with diminishing resources and increasing consumer expectations is driving the efficiency of service-delivery systems. Issues include recruitment and retention, employee engagement, and expectations of our consumers and employers. Participants examine our cultural and multi-generational communities from the perspectives of interagency and community partnerships, and leadership development. Participants use Transformational Coaching models for leadership that strengthen quality services for all consumers.

Seminar 3: Public Policy & Constituency-Building in Rehabilitation
Date: June 15 - 19, 2015   Location: Washington, DC

This Seminar examines national issues relevant to the public rehabilitation program. Participants will hear from national policymakers from the Administration, the Congress and from the advocacy community. The participants will learn how laws and regulations are developed and how to become actively involved in guiding national disability policy.

Seminar 4: Integration of Strategic Systems
Date: October 5 - 9, 2015   Location: San Diego, CA

The culminating learning experience requires an analysis of current organizational and leadership theories to transform strategic systems into empowering public rehabilitation programs. Participants focus their analysis on issues such as: increasing the number and quality of competitive employment outcomes; streamlining service delivery processes; identifying demographic trends of consumer populations; developing human resource initiatives.
